To Whom It May Concern:

I would highly recommend The Black Jew Dialogues for any college/university campus. On April 18, 2009 The Black Jew Dialogues performed at Alverno College for the Wisconsin Private College Initiative for Diversity (WPCID) conference. The Black Jew Dialogues was the opening activity for this two-day conference and immediately got the participants thinking and talking about a variety of diversity topics. Their multi-media show was engaging, professional, and humorous. The presenters tackled serious issues in a non-threatening, thought provoking manner that entertained and educated audience members at the same time.

Sincerely,
