To Whom It May Concern:

Coe College was fortunate enough to have The Black Jew Dialogues as a performance on campus recently and would highly recommend the performance to other institutions of higher education. The booking process was smooth, the performers arrived on time, were courteous, accommodating, and enjoyed being around our students.

As for the performance, it had a large impact as students left stimulated and continued to talk about it for several days. The performers were able to dissect different aspects of race, ethnicity, and culture with a humorous twist that left the audience in both laughter and thought. This program fit into our Multicultural Programming Board Committee schedule well and provided us with an entertaining and educational event that dealt with a relevant topic.

Again, I would highly recommend bringing The Black Jew Dialogues to your campus in the upcoming year.

Sincerely,
