To whom it may concern:

LimmudBoston was very fortunate to be able to offer the Black Jew Dialogues at our first conference in October 2010. The audience thoroughly enjoyed both the humor of the performance and the poignant message within. Additionally, the after-show conversation with Larry and Ron perfectly complemented the show with a frank discussion of Black Jewish relationships.

Most essentially to those of us who ran this first-time, volunteer-run conference, the Black Jew Dialogues creators made it extremely easy for us to offer this high caliber presentation at LimmudBoston. We did not have to find technical experts or expensive assistants. We offered the room and the two performers took over from there.

I highly recommend the content and the creators for teens and adults.

Sincerely,
