To Whom It May Concern:

It is with great enthusiasm that I write this letter of recommendation for Black Jew Dialogues.

Mid-State Technical College had this act on all three of our campuses in February. Both actor's passion, yet straightforward approach are to be admired. From the beginning the audience was engaged by their personal experiences and a sincere and contagious passion to bring equality to all. Their presentation method is comprehensive and dynamic.

The response to the presentations was very positive with students expressing concern that not all students attended, but the message is one that must be heard by everyone. Additionally the highest accolades came from college faculty who appreciated the blunt, yet effective approach.

Any college looking for a unique way to educate their students about absurdity of prejudice and racism should consider the Black Jew Dialogues.

Sincerely,
